Mr. C. E. Case had the misfortune to break his wrist while cranking a Ford car Wednesday. It seems to have been Mr. Case's unlucky day. While driving his Ford in San Jose an auto truck attempted to pass him on the wrong side as he was passing a street car. "Lizzie" got the worst of the deal, losing a wheel. Mr. Case secured another Ford, which proved too cranky to be cranked, hence the accident to Mr. Case's wrist.

MAY FESTIVAL

And still the play proceeds! The students of the Campbell Union High School are practising with unceasing efforts, Shakespeare's drama, A Mid-Summer Night's Dream. The play will be staged on the nights of May 29 and 31. It will be given out of doors in a court yard formed by the buildings. Such interest and willingness to help as shown among the students, is astonishing. Imagine the Fairy Queen and King with their train of sprightly fairies, the mortals, the ardent lovers, and the big burly Bottom and his men. Imagine the scenery, a large forest and in another act a stately Greek palace. The sweet music, the dance of the fairies, and, oh, so many other things! Truly a drama of Shakespeare could be nothing but beautiful and pleasing. And to think, the funds of this delightful play are to help clothe, nourish, and educate some poor French orphan. Come, bring the children and grown-ups to the Campbell High School May 29 and 31.

Campbell's Canneries Prepare For Big Season

Campbell is justly proud of her Canneries and Fruit Drying Plants. In view of the approaching canning season we present a few facts this week which we are sure will be of interest to our readers.

The J. C. Ainsley Packing Co., the oldest and largest of Campbell's canneries, was established in 1891, and was incorporated in 1908. In the year 1891 the output of this cannery was 250,000 cans. In 1918 it amounted to upwards of 5 1/2 millions. The cans alone cost nearly $120,000, while the raw fruit, of which they used over 3000 tons, was valued at more than $300,000. Over 5000 bags of sugar were used, costing approximately $40,000. The total of wages and salaries paid last year was over $100,000. During the busy months the weekly pay-roll amounted to more than $10,000. Previous to the war about 95 per cent of the output of the plant was shipped to England. During the war the export sales were of course greatly reduced, but this reduction was more than offset by the increase in domestic and Government orders. This year they anticipate the best and busiest season in the history of the company.

A visit to the plant of George E. Hyde and Company opposite the S. P. Company Depot revealed great activity in building and installing machinery and many other improvements. Brick masons were erecting a warehouse south of and adjoining the old brick warehouse. A box storage and manufacturing building has been erected adjoining the old warehouse on the west.

Larger facilities have been provided for the canning and cooking room. A "Welfare" building has been projected to be installed with all the modern improvements for the convenience of the employees of both sexes.

A Cafeteria is being erected on a portion of the Water Company's plant on first street to provide a good and reasonable opportunity for taking care of the employees, and the public generally may be served, preference though to be given employees.

Many other improvements have been contemplated.

This firm has only been canning fruits for three years, this being the fourth season, and the business has made substantial and rapid growth. Last season they put up and sold 1,000,000 cans of fruits. They bespeak courteous and fair treatment of employees. Before Canning they were in the dried fruit and packing business by contract for the California Prune and Apricot growers Inc., and are still so engaged. Large orders are already booked for this season by the firm for the Prune and Apricot association.

The California Canneries Co., of San Francisco have taken over the Payne Cannery at Campbell, and are making extensive improvements. Besides greatly enlarging the plant, they are installing the latest and most up-to-date canning machinery. They expect to have one of the finest equipped and most sanitary canneries in the Santa Clara Valley with full facilities to handle a large volume of apricots, peaches, pears and tomatoes. In addition to the cannery proper, they are also building on the grounds modern and cozy cottages to house their women and make them comfortable. Mr. Sol. Jacobs, who has had many years of experience in the fruit business, and who has just returned from the front where he was a Sergeant in the Canadian E. F., has been engaged to handle the Company's affairs for this branch, with the assistance of Mr. Payne. Mr. Jacobs states that he will be ready to make an early start on apricots, and hopes to keep the wheels running until the last of the tomatoes have been picked.

Sun-weet Plant No. 1 is one of the packing houses owned and operated by the Growers' Packing and Warehousing Association, a subsidiary of the California Prune and Apricot Growers Inc. This plant is well equipped for the packing and storing of dried prunes and apricots, and it is expected that the tonnage handled this season will be the largest in its history.

Butterick Notes

The Fashion Sheets for June are in. Ask for a copy. They are free.

The Delineator for June looks wonderfully interesting. It's characteristic of the Delineator—the last copy always seems the best yet. Of course every woman will be interested in the comments on the summer fashions. Then there is the department of Home-Economics where the editor talks of "better meals at less expense." Assuredly that is a fascinating topic just now. Another thing: nearly every normal being feels the stirrings of romance in spring and early summer; so the magazines cater to this sentiment with an extra assortment of fiction numbers. The June Delineator is especially rich in good stories. 20c a copy; or better still, give us your subscription at $2 a year.

Butterick Patterns are in strong demand. Although our mail service is not quite so convenient as selecting from a stock on hand, it is the next best thing. Mail service only means the delay of one day; and best of all, gives the fullest possible choice of patterns.

CROPPING PLAN FOR POULTRY

By Using Two Yards Alternately
Fowls May Be Supplied With Green Food Year Round.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Green food for poultry may be provided throughout the year in a large portion of the country by using two yards alternately; that is, a crop is pastured in one yard while another crop is growing in the second yard. The following plan is suggested by specialists of the department, as adapted ed to moderate climatic conditions. The crop grown should be the one best suited to the particular locality. For the extreme North or South the dates should be modified. Thickly sown crops furnish succulent food and summer shade.

HANDY LIGHT-HANDLED RAKE

Eggs Laid in Litter at Rear of House
May Be Gathered Without Crawling for Them.

In most large poultry houses some of the hens will lay in the litter at the rear of the house beneath the dropping boards. It is a nuisance to have to crawl under after these eggs and it pays to have a light-handled rake in the poultry house to assist in gathering them. They can be slowly raked out of the litter with little danger of breakage.

FOWLS CONSUME WEED SEEDS

Also Pick Up Insects and Vegetable Matter No Other Farm Animal Would Use.

Fowls are natural scavengers, consuming great amounts of weed seeds, picking up insects that would be detrimental, and finding vegetable and other matter that no other domestic animal would either find or use.

Gather the eggs twice daily.

Sell all hens two years old or over.

Clean houses often, once or twice weekly. Daily is better. Begin now.

The chicken crop is an important one and its profit is often dependent upon early hatching.

On nearly every farm in the country more ducks could be raised profitably and without much inconvenience.

Chinese geese are in every way practical, but are not as large as the Toulouse, Embdens or Africans.

Lung Diseases Lead Army Ills

Estimated That There Are 40,000 Cases Which Will Require Supervision

Out of 7,710 cases of discharged disabled men from army, navy and marine corps whose cases have been passed upon by the war risk insurance bureau, and who therefore are eligible for free vocational retraining by the federal board for vocational education, 2,791, or 36.2 per cent, have tuberculosis or lung complaints.

The federal board stated it is informed that first and last there will be between thirty thousand and forty thousand tuberculosis cases. Not all of them will require vocational retraining, but the number expected is large.

These cases will be handled on a separate basis from the rest of the injured and disabled men, and will require constant supervision and medical attention to insure the arresting of the disease and complete restoration to health.

This is the primary consideration, and training will be only such during this period as to furnish enough occupation to keep the patient busy, contented and hopeful.

Canada has been very successful in dealing with her tuberculous army men, and the Canadian system will, in many particulars, be followed by the federal board with men of the United States forces.

The old idea that a man recovered from tuberculosis should do nothing but out-of-doors work is exploded, and, according to the federal board, there is a great variety of indoor occupations he can follow with perfect safety, provided his living and working conditions are proper.

According to official advices the total of "major amputation cases" in the United States forces to date is 3,034, of which 2,308 are arm and leg cases, and of these approximately 600 are arm amputations and 1,708 are leg amputations. The remaining 726 are hands, feet and two or more fingers.

Not all of these men require special training to enable them to make a living, the federal board for vocational education points out; in fact, the percentage is smaller than one would imagine. A lawyer, doctor, draftsman, bookkeeper, dentist, stenographer, office man or salesman is not necessarily affected unfavorably in making a living by reason of having lost a leg; but the loss of an arm may be a very serious matter.

Those who in the main require re-education on account of leg or arm amputations are farmers, artisans whose trade required great activity, such as carpenters, teamsters, structural iron workers and the like.

There are no hard and fast rules, and cannot be, for each case must be judged on its own merits, as for instance that of a professional violinist, who, having lost a finger joint of his left hand, found his occupation utterly gone and had to learn to do something else for a living.

The Monroe Doctrine

As Announced in Message to Congress in 1823

The Monroe doctrine, as announced by President Monroe in his message to congress in 1823, was a simple statement of the attitude of this country toward the South American republics. Henry Clay had made an effort to have the independence of these republics recognized, and in 1822 their independence was acknowledged by congress. President Monroe had recalled John Quincy Adams from the court of St. James to become his secretary of state, and many historians credit Adams with the authorship of the message, in which the doctrine was stated as follows:

"As a principle, the American continents, by the free and independent position which they have assumed and maintained, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power."

Eucalyptus Fastest Growing of Any of Hard Wood Trees

Hard, fine grained, durable wood usually grows slowly. A most remarkable exception is the eucalyptus, and this gives the tree its great value in reforestation. It is said that the eucalyptus grows five times as rapidly as any other tree. Seedlings have been observed to make an average growth of six inches a day, and one tree attained a height of 125 feet and a diameter of 36 inches in nine years. The eucalyptus will not thrive where there are frosts, but in the South it promises to go a long way toward filling the place once occupied by other hardwoods which have been greatly reduced by demands for furniture and cooperage stock.

HERE AND THERE

Some persons' idea of fooling away their time is to attempt to write poetry.

Make the best of your surroundings. The duck pond is an ocean to the tadpole.

A credulous woman is one who believes a dentist when he promises not to hurt her.

It matters little if you are ignorant, for you will meet people daily who know it all.

Honeybee as Fertilizing Agent During Fruit Bloom

The value of the honeybee as a fertilizing agent during fruit bloom, and the dependence of apple growers especially upon the activities of "the busy bee," are facts which are not well enough known. The work of the experiment stations in all parts of the country is proving beyond doubt that fruit culture and bee culture are mutually interdependent upon each other for the best results.

Homely Hue of Immortal Grass Is More Enchanting Than the Lily or the Rose

Lying in the sunshine among the buttercups and dandelions of May, scarcely higher in intelligence than the minute tenants of that mimic wilderness, our earliest recollections are of grass; and when the fitful fever is ended and the foolish wrangle of the market and the forum is closed, grass heals over the scar which our descent into the bosom of earth has made and the carpet of the infant becomes the blanket of the dead. Grass is the forgiveness of nature—her constant benediction. Fields trampled with battle, saturated with blood, torn with the ruts of cannon, grow green again with grass, and carnage is forgotten. Streets abandoned by traffic become grass-grown like rural lanes and are obliterated. Forests decay, harvests perish, flowers vanish, but grass is immortal. Belonged to by the sullen hosts of winter it withdraws into the impregnable fortress of its subterranean vitality and emerges upon the first solicitation of spring. Sown by the winds, by the wandering birds, propagated by the subtle agriculture of the elements, which are its ministers and servants, it softens the rude outline of the world. It bears no blazonry of bloom or splendor, but its homely hue is more enchanting than the lily or the rose. It yields no fruit in earth or air, and yet, should its harvest fail for a single year, famine would depopulate the world.—John J. Ingalls.

Eight Well Defined Spots on the Sun and May Be Seen With Three-Inch Telescope

There are, at present, eight very well defined spots on the sun, that may be well seen with a three-inch telescope, notes a correspondent. Six of them lie, in groups of two, along a parallel to the sun's equator, and about 15 degrees north of it. The other two are close together and about the same distance south of the solar equator, near the sun's eastern limb. If seen near the horizon these parallels are almost vertical. Since one cannot look directly at the sun, these spots can be best seen by focussing the image of the sun on a white card held at a little distance from the eyepiece of the telescope or field glass. When the image of the sun is three inches in diameter, these spots appear to be about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, or about one-fifth of the sun's diameter. This would make their actual breadth about 17,000 miles, or somewhat more than twice the diameter of the earth. Their nature is not precisely known, but they are believed to be eruptions in the sun's surface. The gigantic scale of solar activity is well illustrated by their enormous size.

The only influence that sun spots have been actually demonstrated to have on the earth is on its magnetism. At a time of many sun spots, magnetic disturbances are more numerous and violent, and the aurora borealis is more frequent.

Serve a Salad Every Day.

The simple green, crisp salads which in many localities may be had for the gathering, are the best of blood tonics in the spring time. Water cress, dandelion greens, young onions, lettuce and radishes are all obtainable in most places. Where there is running water from a spring (not too rapid) one may set out plants of water cress and leave a salad for future generations to enjoy.

A simple French dressing is generally liked for these crisp, green salads; take one tablespoonful of good vinegar and three of the best olive oil, salt, a little sugar and pepper to taste. Corn oils are also good if olive oil is not to be obtained.

Beet and Potato Salad.

Cut six cooked beets and six potatoes in small balls with a French vegetable cutter. The bits of leftovers may be used in hash or in a meat loaf. Put the potatoes in a good dressing, either mayonnaise or boiled dressing, but well seasoned; add one cupful of chopped chives and olives mixed. Garnish with the best balls dipped in vinegar. Serve on lettuce.

Marguerite Salad.

Shred one head of lettuce and arrange it on individual plates. Slice the whites of hard cooked eggs lengthwise to form a flower cup. Fill the centers with well seasoned yolks of the eggs, put through a sieve. Serve with the salad dressing passed in a bowl.

Sour Cream Dressing.

Take half a cupful of sour cream, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, the same of paprika and pepper, celery seed to taste and a tablespoonful of good flavored vinegar. Whip the cream and blend all the ingredients before serving.

BOY SCOUTS

SEA SCOUTS TRAIN ASHORE

This is undoubtedly one of the most picturesque, if not the most appealing, division of the scouting program. It has to deal with that element in the boy's life which is seldom thoroughly satisfied unless he actually runs away and goes to sea.

The program includes every phase of nautical work. It is based on a program outlined by and in charge of James A. Wilder. Mr. Wilder has had the heartiest co-operation in developing this from the high officials of the navy department.

The plan is a thoroughly working one and its promotion attracts a great deal of attention. It is new and is intended to work with older scouts.

JAMES A. WILDER,
Chief Sea Scout of the Sea Scouts of America.

It's not, however, entirely a sea-board affair. It's so designed that an inland city can produce practically the same results.

The idea of training seamen inland is not a new thing. It has been extensively done both in Sweden and Norway for generations.

HOW SCOUTS HELPED FRANCE.

A recent statement received at national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America by General Baden-Powell, head of the English scouts, contains the following:

"The fighting is over at last, and the scouts, whether from home or overseas, have distinguished themselves in noticeable proportion throughout the war. Among the highest, three out of General Haig's five army commanders in France are scout commissioners—Sir Herbert Plumer, Sir William Birdwood and Sir Julian Byng.

"While at Lille I heard of the pluck of a boy scout during the German occupation. No sooner had the German staff received news by wireless as to the progress of the war and events in other countries than it was at once known by all the inhabitants of Lille.

"Till the time of their departure the Germans never discovered how the news leaked out. As soon as night fell every evening this boy rigged up his wireless apparatus on the roof of his home, received all the news that was going and had it typed and communicated to his friends. The apparatus was all down and stowed away before the day dawned."

NOT EASY TO STAY A SCOUT.

Being a scout stands for service. This service may mean a sacrifice or the changing of his entire mode of living, such as the rearrangement of his studies or the giving up of amusements or things he may like best. This of course is the real scout's program of unselfish and patriotic service to his country.

In these days each scout feels that he has been called upon to make just such sacrifices and still has a debt to pay to his brother scouts and scout officials "over there."

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Eleven scouts and a leader left Akron, Ohio, with tents, blankets, cooking utensils and food for a gypsy hike through the Ohio country, carrying their equipment on a wagon furnished by a local liveryman drawn by a horse furnished by a farmer.

War Savings stamp sales of $54,000, Liberty loan sales of $23,450, and $16 black walnut trees located, form the war record of Kalamazoo scouts. Since June 1, 212 scouts have been recruited in that city.

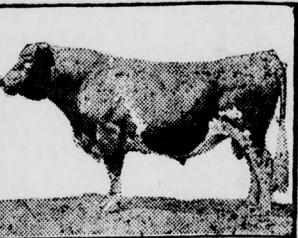

DAIRY FACTS

TO ELIMINATE SCRUB BULLS

Campaign Started by Wisconsin Farmers to Use Only Purebred Sires—Record in One County.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Wisconsin dairymen and farmers, desirous of increasing their profits and adding still greater honors to their already famous dairy state, have joined in a state-wide campaign to eliminate the scrub bull and use only purebred sires. The record made last year in the Brown County Cow-Testing association typifies the merits of purebred bulls and illustrates why farmers and dairymen will not tolerate the scrub. In this association 12 cows qualified for the register of production. All of these cows were daughters of purebred sires, six of them being daughters of one sire. The five best herds in the association are headed by purebred sires, while the five poorest herds are all headed by grade or scrub sires. The herds of those farmers who used purebred sires averaged 85 pounds more fat a cow than those using grades or scrubs. Last year eight of the members purchased purebred sires of known breeding to replace their scrubs.

KEEP DAIRY COWS ON FARM

For Farmer Who Has Good Market for Products Dairying Is Most Profitable Business.

Keeping dairy cows will help the average farmer to overcome three main drawbacks to the one-crop system of farming: A cash income but once a year, a depleted soil, and unequal distribution of labor, according to C. H. Staples, dairy specialist, extension division, Louisiana State university.

"For the farmer who does not have a ready and accessible market for dairy products, a few dairy cows will provide the cheapest and best of human food for the family," says Mr. Staples. "The cows will consume much of the rough feeds that usually go to waste and the expense of keeping them is almost negligible.

"For the farmer who has a good market for dairy products dairying is a most profitable business, is always a safe and sound line of farming, is least affected by sudden changes of weather and seasons, gives a steady cash income, builds up the soil, and provides employment for labor at all seasons."

MAKE BETTER FARM BUTTER

Trouble Incident to Home Production May Be Decreased by Using More Careful Methods.

The adoption of more careful methods of handling milk and cream and improved practices in the making of farm butter will reduce rather than increase the trouble incident to home production of this food, say dairy specialists, and will result in a superior product which can be sold more easily and for a better price than the average farm butter.

DAIRY HERD IS FOUNDATION

Not Hard to Raise Calves, Pigs and Lambs if Skimmed Milk Is Easily Available.

The dairy herd is the foundation for the stock farmer or even for the general farmer who keeps several kinds of stock. With skimmed milk it is easy to raise calves, pigs and lambs, but without it one may find a substitute rather expensive and unsatisfactory. Keep the dairy cows and then these others may be added.

FEED DAIRY COWS ROUGHAGE

Outline Given of Two Grain Rations to Be Fed With Clover or Alfalfa Hay.

When the roughage for dairy cows is clover or alfalfa hay, the grain rations may be 200 pounds corn-and-cob meal, 100 pounds ground oats and 100 pounds gluten feed; or 250 pounds corn-and-cob meal, 100 pounds wheat bran and 100 pounds gluten feed.

Consideration of Package. The package in which butter is marketed demands careful consideration.

THE SAHARA DRIER IS A BIG SUCCESS

The California Dried Products Co., Incorporated, with offices at 149 California street, San Francisco, are showing wonderful development. Mr. Oscar Krenz of the Krenz Copper Works is president, and the other officers of the company are Geo. A. Walcott, T. C. Penny and Jas. F. Galrup, all well-known business men of San Francisco and Oakland. This company was incorporated in January and are placing upon the market an Evaporator machine. It has shown wonderful results in the evaporation of all kinds of Fruits and Vegetables—also Meats, Nuts and Fish. Excellent results have been obtained in drying Cocoanuts and a very fine grade of Copra produced by their process. The "Sahara Drier" has been sold to some of the largest Fruit Growers in California—Mr. H. B. Reed of Chico, the largest Prune Grower in that district, placing his order for 8 units. Mr. Jno. F. Davidson, a large Peach and Apricot Grower of Los Angeles, is placing ten of these machines in his orchards. Mr. D. B. Gray, a prominent Grower of Fowler, is now operating a "Sahara Drier" on his ranch. Mr. Gray was caught by the early rains last Fall and about 40 tons of raisins damaged. He stored these and has tried many ways to dry them artificially and to get them to market, but without much success. He installed this Drier and has found a ready market for his raisins, paying for the machine several times over, his profits on the run being over $2800. Any one can verify these statements by writing to Mr. Gray. We understand there are thousands of tons of damaged raisins throughout the Fowler district and a great deal of interest is being manifested as to suitable protection for the Growers for the coming fruit crops. The Sahara Drier is represented by Anderson & Barngrover Co., San Jose, Calif. Mr. J. P. Davidson, 305 Security Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif. Cameron & Macdonald, Chico, Calif. Mr. L. A. Bowman, Lodi, Calif. C. F. Moon Co., Fresno, Calif. Mr. Chas. F. Wyer, Napa, Calif. —Adv.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers. Freezezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.—Adv.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my household and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs. FRANK FITZGERALD, 25 N. 41st Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

County Y. M. C. A.

The third Annual County Convention convened on Thursday night, May 15, at Wilson's Cafeteria, San Jose. Mr. C. F. Hamsher, Chairman of the County Committee, presided with his usual tact and effectiveness. Supper which was served in the acceptable way always obtaining at Wilson's was followed by the reports of the Chairman and by the Treasurer—Mr. J. F. Duncan. Finances and the situation in general throughout the county were felt to be in most satisfactory shape.

After the report of officers came the election of the county committeemen for the ensuing year. The following were chosen to be the backbone of the work during the coming twelve months: C. F. Hamsher, E. B. Jennings, E. E. Wagner, Los Gatos; J. F. Duncan, Irving W. Snow, G. N. Stray, Campbell; E. W. Barber, Abram Thompson, Morgan Hill; H. C. Hagen, P. W. Parmler, Gilroy; Robert Mansfield, Sunnyvale; J. F. Richards, W. A. Rice, Benj. V. Bazata, Saratoga; Earl D. Minton, Mountain View; G. L. Beaver, W. F. Miller, Palo Alto.

Election of Committeemen was followed by several four-minute speeches. The first of which was by Rev. Roberts of Sunnyvale. Mr. Roberts spoke of his own youth when he was a worker in the mines and had to struggle for his education. Against his boyhood trials he placed the opportunity of our lads—especially in such lines as the County Y. M. C. A. which provides the proper leadership of a volunteer sort to supplement the other agencies of the community, thus moulding lives at the proper time in the right way.

Mr. Roberts felt that the County Y. M. C. A. was a vital help to the church.

Raymond Tallman, a member of the Y. M. C. A. group at Morgan Hill, spoke on the topic "What the County Y. M. C. A. means to the boys." He spoke of the help he had received in the group meetings and in the summer camp conducted by the Association. He pointed out how he had seen other boys lives cleared and strengthened by this program.

Lawrence Montgomery of Los Gatos spoke on the topic, "An appraisal of the County Y. M. C. A." (a) As a group member (b) "As a group leader." He was modest and felt more like telling what the Y. M. C. A. had meant to him than like speaking of his own work as a leader.

He indicated some of the problems of leading a younger boys' group and showed by his attitude that the work which had meant something to him was bound through him to react deeply on his followers. Professor Will Jessup of Morgan Hill, spoke on the County Y. M. C. A. program as touching the school life of the boys. He rightly remarked that the quality of the group led by him is far above par. He spoke of the good and positive effect of the Group work on the lives of boys; he believes heartily that the program has a big place in the building and forming of all-round lives of High school lads. Mr. Jessup has wide experience in work with boys and schools - having been for a long time an educator; he was one of the pioneer American educators sent to the Philippine Islands after the occupation.

Mr. Charles Moore, of Mountain View spoke on the topic "The County Y. M. C. A. in the Eyes of a Business man." Mr. Moore spoke with justifiable pride of the work of his own group—a group which he denominated the goingest group in the work. He spoke of the County program as calling for considerable time and more money. Mr. Moore is enthusiastic over the whole program. He spoke of the fact that his community feels the importance of this type of work; a work which under proper care will spread rapidly the gospel of right living and thinking among the young men of the county.

Following these short speeches came the address of Dr. Richard R. Perkins of San Francisco, an address which was ably conceived and ably done. Dr. Perkins enlarged on facts that environment counts for much in boy life. He spoke of the fact that boys of this time have been living in the abnormal atmosphere of war. It has been so for four years. It has had its effect on their every side of life. His other points were as follows. The County Y. M. C. A. has a wide field. It must lead in the varied fields which are not properly cared for in other ways. For example, boys must have a christian philosophy of sex. If they are not getting it the Y. M. C. A. must give it to them. Are they getting it?

From three western states came together, once not long ago, 85,000 young men for the army. These states stood among the first eleven states in the union in point of statistics as to sex health. But of these 85,000, 13,000 were diseased.

California was one of the three states. Had these boys a christian philosophy of sex? The Y. M. C. A. must aid in this matter. Our boys must have a christian philosophy of money; have they such a philosophy? A boy who is making twice as much in a day as his father did in a month when young, comes out of the shop and orders a dinner costing $2.95 - orders for fun of showing that he can do it and foot the bill. He spent half of his day's pay on one meal; he gave himself to the amount of half a day for one high priced meal? Did he have a christian philosophy of money? Money is concentrated manhood. Aman has no right in the light of christian philosophy of money to squander his manhood. Jesus had the program for a christian philosophy of money as he had for a christian philosophy of sex.

High School Notes

Some of the members of the Sophomore class proved their ability as debaters when they held a debate with San Jose last Monday afternoon. The question was, Resolved that all industrial disputes should be submitted to the federal government for settlement. Mabel Wiesendanger and Harold Omer upheld the affirmative team and stayed at Campbell to meet Alvin Langfield and Wallace Harris, the two sophomores who upheld the San Jose high school negative team.

The final decision was 2 - 1 in the affirmative's favor. While the debate was in progress here, the same question was being debated by Margaret Blaine and Dorothy Merriman, on the negative side from Campbell and Sammy Johnson and George Marsten on San Jose's affirmative side. The debate was a tie.

The debate was well given and the sophomores deserve much credit for having done so nobly. They certainly have a good start and should be encouraged for they will make Campbell mighty proud of them someday. Miss Boesch is their coach. The try out for extemporaneous debate was held Tuesday afternoon. The team was given the question just twenty four hours before the time for the debate. Then just before they marched onto the platform the speakers were given their sides. The contestants were Evelyn Henry, Ruth Metzler, Nat Jones, Elizabeth Duncan, Harold Cook, Emil Mrak, Henrietta Vander Dussen, and Isabelle Collins. Nat Jones and Isabelle Collins were chosen to debate with Redwood City at Santa Clara High School Auditorium next Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The question will be sent in a sealed envelope by Professor Miller of Stanford University and will be given the debaters at eight o'clock Friday night.

Then each speaker will be given five minutes before he speaks. Every one who possibly can should go to Santa Clara Saturday night to support our debaters—BE THERE IF YOU POSSIBLY CAN.

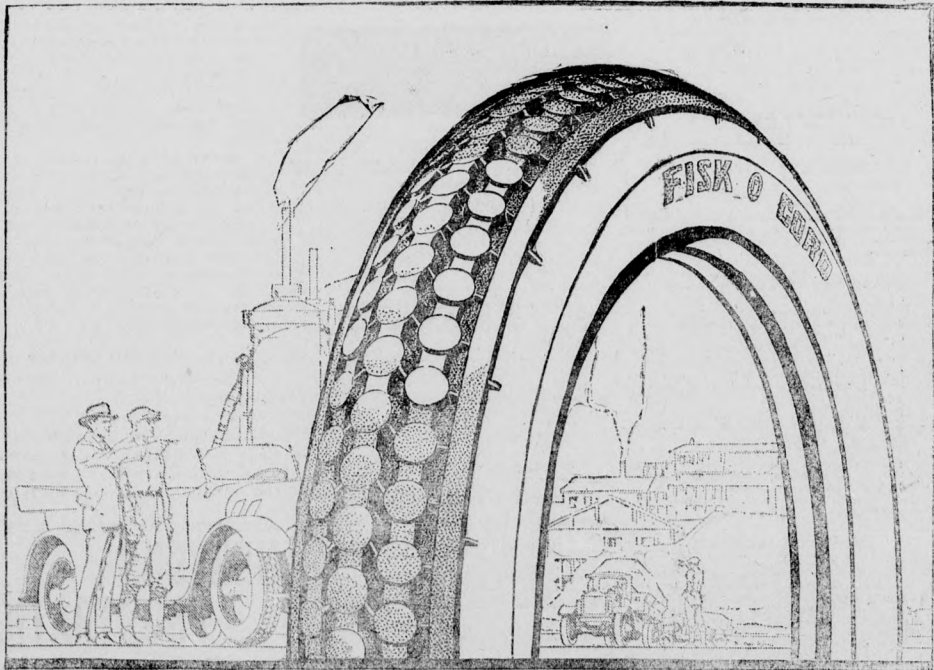

The girls' base-ball team was to play a game at Campbell Tuesday with San Mateo but the players did not arrive. The Campbell team concluded that the San Mateo girls, having heard of Campbell's wonderful team got cold feet.

The game was forfeited—so Campbell got the benefit of the doubt. The San Jose High School girls team is scheduled to play with the Campbell girls on their diamond Thursday afternoon "We pray for success."

The old type of agricultural teaching in vogue in high schools until very recently was almost wholly theoretical. Being such, it did not win the respect of those who were versed in the practical aspects. Almost the only attempt to break away from the text book was for each pupil to have a small plot of his own, either at home or preferably at school, where he raised a few vegetables or flowers. This was doubtless better than nothing, but it could hardly be called practical. Very often the teacher himself knew almost nothing of the subject he was trying to teach except what he had learned from books. He seldom had had any farm experience of any kind. The situation described above is rapidly giving place to a new condition where the teaching is based on practical commercial farming. Every student who takes this new type of agriculture in high school must have at least one "project". This project "must consist of the production and marketing of farm, orchard, vineyard or garden crops, or of bees, poultry, stock, or other animals, or their products. The projects must be conducted upon commercially productive bases. Each pupil must buy or lease the necessary land or animals, purchase the necessary seed, fertilizers and feed, and may rent teams or farm implements and employ labor. He must also market the product; keep a complete record of all the above and other necessary transactions, together with an account of the time spent by him on his project, and the value of the same; close the project and balance his accounts". I have quoted at some length the requirements as to the project because they are so important in that the project forms the foundation of the whole course. It is conducted preferably at home and is under the direct charge of the teacher who visits it at frequent intervals, and advises and assists the pupil. It is a part of the school work and the time put into the operations of the project is counted as school time and school credit is given accordingly. The pupil spends half of the day in actual farming, and the other half of the day at school studying and investigating the questions that arise in the conduct of his project. The results of the studies he puts into operation on his farm. This type of agricultural teaching was intended primarily for the boys who are out of school but who are interested in agriculture or who are actually working on farms. They may take in high school the purely agricultural course, which will be given in some detail in the following article, and need not spend all their day in school. Thus they can both earn and learn at the same time. The fact that it was intended for those out of school does not disbar boys already in high school from changing to this course. No boys need fear they will be disbarred from college for the new college entrance requirements permit this work to count for college credit.

Sunshine And Music

A laugh is just like sunshine;
It freshens all the day;
It tips the peaks of life with light
And drives the clouds away.
The soul grows glad that hears it,
And feels its courage strong.
A laugh is just like sunshine
For cheering folks along;
A laugh is just like music;
It lingers in the heart;
And where its melody is heard
The jils of life depart.
And happy thoughts come crowding,
Its jovial notes to greet—
A laugh is just like music
For making living sweet;

The Despised Humanities

Within the year some of our more conservative colleges have lessened the amount of Greek and Latin required of their students. At the same time the president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has come out in favor of two or more years of Latin for the engineering students! If an engineer is to be a "master of organized effort," he must know something of the origin of our words and must have some power of entering into the historic continuity of human experience. During the war French and British problems were too much for some of our specialists. The remedy is not more specialization, but more attention to fundamentals, and it is hard to see how the classics (not grammar only) can be classified as other than fundamental for a civilization based as ours is directly upon the human experience of Greece and Rome.
